

A SCHEME TO DEPRIVE THE GOVERNMENT

The Union Pacific Company is trying to beat the Government out of the money which it advanced to aid in the construction of the road. The company, without apparent cause, except to create a sentiment in favor of the Reilly Funding bill, has defaulted in the payment of the interest on its first mortgage bonds. The receivers appointed by the United States Court to manage the road have had to go to the company to pay the interest but they decided to let it go by default. The bondholders have brought suit to foreclose the first mortgage and it is thought a combination of capitalists will bid in the property. This can be done before the Government will have opportunity to foreclose, as under the construction given the original act by the Supreme Court the Government cannot foreclose until the company defaults in the payment of the first installment of the second mortgage bonds. These bonds are held by the Government but the first installment of them will not become due until next November. Before that time the road can be sold under foreclosure by the holders of the first mortgage bonds, and the Government will have to purchase it to lose its interest in the property.

PURCHASE OF STATE SUPPLIES.

Complaint is made that supplies for the State are frequently purchased outside the State at prices as high as those charged in the State. To prohibit this and give the home merchant and producer at least an even show with those living outside the State the Legislature of 1933 passed the following act:

"All supplies and goods purchased for the State of Nevada, or any county in the State, shall be purchased of resident merchants and business men of the State of Nevada, whenever said merchants and business men are ready to supply such supplies and goods at an advance of not more than ten per cent over San Francisco prices, freight added; provided that all supplies for the use of the county shall be purchased by the County Commissioners."

It is claimed that this law is defective in several particulars and is therefore evaded. It does not prescribe a method for ascertaining by advertising or otherwise how the prices at which supplies may be furnished shall be ascertained. It prescribes no penalty for a violation of its provisions and, therefore, is not complied with as it should be. The last clause of the act, which provides that all supplies for the use of the county shall be purchased by the County Commissioners frequently works a hardship on county officers. If the Sheriff, Clerk or any other officer requires a lock, a lamp chimney or even a candle, the County Commissioners, if the law is complied with, must purchase the article. This is annoying and unnecessary and does not benefit the taxpayers in any particular. The act should therefore be amended by compelling the State officials under penalty to comply with its provisions, and by giving county officials the privilege of purchasing necessary supplies, the bills for the same to be passed upon by the Board of County Commissioners, and reduced if the prices are exorbitant.

HOW CAN IT BE DONE?

Several persons and newspapers are kindly informing the Legislature that it can win for itself an enviable reputation, in fact immortalize itself, if it will reduce the expenses of the State Government without impairing its efficiency. There is no doubt whatever on that point. The most villainous gold-bug in the State would have to accord praise to the Legislature if, without impairing the public service, it could reduce taxation. The question is how can it be done? What legislation can be enacted that will materially reduce expenses. The issue and helpless poor must be provided for at the expense of the State. Criminals must be prosecuted and punished and the State Government must be maintained. The salaries of officials cannot be reduced for the terms for which the officers have been elected. There is therefore very little opportunity for the Legislature to reduce expenses. It is possible, however, that some statesman, more wise than any who is in the Legislature, has evolved from his brain a practical method of reducing expenses. If so, why not inform the Legislature of the fact? No doubt the members will appreciate this advice and possibly pass an act appropriating a reasonable share of the money which can be saved to build a monument to commemorate the service to the people.

DECLINE IN WHEAT.

Wheat went tumbling down in the market this week, stopping at 92 1/2 cents per bushel in San Francisco and 93 1/2 cents per bushel in Chicago. Brokers are somewhat to blame for the decline as some of them made money by the fall in prices and did all in their power to create a panic and break the market.

This is not encouraging to farmers. There is not much money in raising wheat when it sells in the great markets of the country at less than a cent a pound. It seems, however, that the powers which control the law makers of the country are determined to adhere to the gold standard, thus increasing the purchasing power of the metal, regardless of consequences to the masses of the people.

THE LEGISLATURE AND THE FUNDING BILL

The representatives of the Silver party in State Convention assembled at Carson, September 24, 1934, adopted without a dissenting vote the following resolution:

"We demand the collection of the indebtedness of the Pacific Railway companies to the United States, as it matures, without any extension of time or change of terms or conditions."

PERRINS ELECTED SENATOR.

The Senatorial contest is ended in California. At noon yesterday the two Houses of the Legislature met in joint convention and elected George C. Perkins for two years from March 4th to fill the unexpired term of Senator Stanford. The De Young forces, horses, foot and dragons, were routed. Democrats, Martin and Noble, voted against Perkins.

A BEAUTIFUL TESTIMONIAL

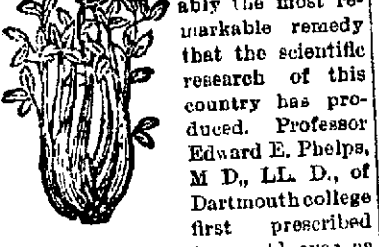

Mr. S. M. Jamison Remembered by the Teachers.

At the High School building yesterday afternoon, ex-Trustee S. M. Jamison was the recipient of a beautiful present from the teachers of Reno school district. It consisted of the complete works of Charles Dickens, fifteen substantially and elegantly bound volumes.

Superintendent Bray made the presentation address, alluding to the long, unselfish and efficient services of Mr. Jamison on the School Board of this city and assuring him that the teachers city and county were proud to have him as a trustee and his many courtesies to them, individually and collectively. In behalf of himself and all the teachers he wished Mr. Jamison much pleasure in the perusal of the great author and humorist, and assured him of a continued warm place in the affections of all.

Mr. Jamison, who was not a little moved by the proceedings, feelingly replied, stating that he felt proud of the teachers and the work they were doing, and should ever esteem the books, not only on account of their intrinsic value, but as a pleasant souvenir of his relation to the schools during so many years.

MARKS THEM WELL
One True Medicine for Lost Nervous Strength.

There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system, and that is the Paine's Celery Compound so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Professor Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D., of Dartmouth College first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's Celery Compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, and kidney troubles. For the latter, Paine's Celery Compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

INTEREST BEARING CURRENCY.

The Money Kings Need Another Benefit. Among the many currency bills suggested by the plutocrats is a bill for the issuance of interest bearing Treasury notes. A bill of this kind would be a godsend to the banks, and would enable them to draw interest on their reserve and idle money. By making it a legal tender for its face value it would have no advantage over the other money as a circulating medium, and the people who needed ready money to transact their daily business would use the non-interest bearing money.

The banks of the United States hold collectively an average of $300,000,000 in money as a reserve for a deposit account of about $4,000,000,000. Four billion dollars of this amount is actually drawing interest, now if they can get the Government to issue $300,000,000 of the three per cent Treasury notes and make them legal tender for their face value the banks would very generously exchange their non-interest bearing reserve fund for the three per cent Treasury notes. Three per cent on $300,000,000 would give the banks $9,000,000 yearly interest on their reserve. To get a bill of this kind through Congress would probably cost the banks about $4,500,000 apportioned about as follows: Seventy-five Republican votes at $30,000 each, $22,500,000; one hundred and ten Democratic Congressmen at $10,000 each, $1,100,000; thirty Democratic Senators at $50,000 each, $1,500,000; thirty Democratic Representatives at $40,000 each, $1,200,000; for services of professional lobbyists in arranging details and hypnotizing Congress, the Judiciary and the Executive $450,000; total cost $45,000,000. If the banks did not wish to advance this money they could get a clause inserted in the bill and have the interest paid quarterly in advance as was done once before. In this way the Government would furnish the money to buy Congress, and the banks could collect the interest for their own benefit quarterly thereafter. A bill like this would be very acceptable to the banks and the cost of its enactment would not exceed the foregoing estimate.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3.

Senate Concurrent Resolution concerning the bonded indebtedness of the Pacific Railroad Companies to the United States, and other matters pertinent thereto.

WHEREAS, The indebtedness of the Pacific Railroad Companies to the United States is a matter of interest and importance to the whole people; it is a matter that demands calm consideration and the exercise of good business judgment on the part of the Representatives of our Government, therefore be it resolved by the Senate of the State of Nevada, the Assembly concurring,

That we demand the collection of the indebtedness of the Pacific Railroad Company to the United States, as it matures upon the same principal that individual demands are enforced, and we instruct our Senators and Representatives in Congress to vote for such a bill as will dispose of this important question to the best interests of the people of the State of Nevada and the whole people of the United States; and in accordance with the law and in justice to all.

And be it further resolved that we demand the enforcement of the Interstate Commerce Act everywhere, so that unjust discrimination may be prohibited; and we request and demand of our Senators and Representatives in Congress that they use their influence and ability to consummate such purpose.

Resolved that His Excellency, the Governor of the State of Nevada, cause to be transmitted a duly authenticated copy of this resolution to each of our Senators and to our Representative in Congress.

EASTERN NEVADA.

The Live Stock and Mining Interests of Elko County.

ELKO, Nev., January 22, 1895.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—The present winter in Eastern Nevada has thus far been quite disagreeable with more or less cold with some rain and snow. The depth of snow has not reached over from nine to ten inches along the Humboldt from the Wells to Palisade. In the neighboring valleys on either side of the river at a distance of twenty to twenty-five miles very little snow has fallen, not more than from four to six inches in many places. But on the Ruby, Gosline, Humboldt and other neighboring ranges large deposits of snow are piled up in these lofty mountains. The thermometer during the past two months has traveled around zero, first above and then below a few degrees, with one or two exceptions, when it was in the teens.

STOCK.

The winter, taken as a whole, has been a fair one, and all kinds of stock are in fine condition for this season of the year. The most of our sheep men have driven their flocks southward in White Pine county to Long Valley, Deep Creek and other localities. Nearly all of our stockmen commenced to feed during Christmas week. Most of the feeding is now done under cover as our stockmen have learned by past experience that it is better to house their stock more or less. The number of stock cattle that are turned out upon the open range are growing less and less every winter. The barbarous practice of turning stock out on the cold, bleak range to shift for themselves as best they can is now fast passing away and will soon be remembered only as a matter of history in stock raising of the early days of Eastern Nevada. It is cheaper in the long run and more humane to feed stock and have them in fair and healthy condition in the Spring than to have to rodeo hundreds of miles of territory to round up only a few forlorn looking cattle with hundreds of carcasses lying upon the hills to remind the stockmen of their folly. Hay is superabundant in all of the valleys of Elko county and along the Humboldt river, as is fully attested by the large number of ricks and stacks that are to be seen, therefore little or no loss is anticipated among stock men the present season.

TUSCARORA MINES.

Tuscarora, one of the most productive mining camps in all Eastern Nevada is at present exceedingly quiet. There is not over 25 or 30 men employed in this once active camp. Even as late as eight years ago it contained a busy population of 3,000 souls or more with all her mills and mines in active operation turning out tons of bullion. The stockholders were receiving fair dividends, miners good wages and prompt payment. Contentment beamed from the countenance of every business man and miner and prosperity was evident from their happy surroundings and pleasant homes but all is now changed, the sweet musical sound of the mill whistle echoing and re-echoing from hill to valley, together with the thump of the mighty mill stamp blended in murmuring soft cadence among the neighboring hills is no longer heard and Tuscarora's population to-day scarcely reaches more than 1,000 persons.

Nevertheless Tuscarora is not dead; it only sleeps to rise again with double renewed energy in the future, when silver is again re-monetized. Until that glorious epoch shall have arrived she will continue to exist through the energy and enterprise of her old time citizens, who are not discouraged as to the future of this grand old camp as it contains outside of the great silver mines many valuable prospects of gold which are now being developed. Among other citizens who have not lost faith in Tuscarora are John and Stephen Beard who are old pioneers, having arrived at McCann Creek, Tuscarora, July 11 1887 and from that day to the present they have been strong believers in the great wealth of Tuscarora.

During this long period they have dug ditches, built reservoirs, prospected and developed mines and to-day they are rewarded for their stubborn perseverance in the discovery and partial development of several gold ledges—one in particular some thirty feet wide, assaying in gold from $10 to $15 per ton. Some special assays have been obtained as high as $35 to $40 per ton. They have several locations of higher grade ore, but the veins are smaller. These finds, with the others, are located in what is known as the "gold belt," being east of the silver zone of Tuscarora. This gold belt is about five miles long from north to south commencing a little north of east of the old Grand Prize thence southward to McCann creek, where it seems to lose itself among the hills. Its depth is about three miles from east to west. Within this field the celebrated Dexter gold mine is situated, which has produced in gold bullion over $250,000.

The foundation of this gold field is porphyry, slate and talc, lying in alternate strips. The Home Mining Company, which has been organized during the past year, has erected a 4-stamp gold mill, containing all of the necessary machinery for the saving of gold. The capacity of the mill is seven tons per 24 hours. The first run of eight days yielded the company $2,800. Two men are all that are required to operate the mill, and one cord of wood supplies sufficient fuel to propel the machinery.

This company has a large number of fine prospects. The owners of this property are Judge W. S. Hillman, who is secretary and manager, Tony Ross, President, James Dove, trustee and millman.

The mill and mines of this company are temporarily closed for repairs. In early spring operations will be resumed with a large force of men.

Another company in this gold belt, known as the San Francisco Company, has a gasoline plant of 10-horse power with engine capacity to sink 400 feet, beside clearing the shaft of water. The gasoline engine only requires one man to keep it in running order, and costs but $180 cents per day for fuel. The cylinder is supplied with gasoline from a small supply tank about the size of a 3-gallon bucket. This company has already encountered in its prospecting several very encouraging bodies of ore.

In all probability one of the richest free gold mines in this gold belt is the Poorman, situated about half a mile south of the Grand Prize Mill, and is being opened by preparatory development work with a view of mining and reducing the ore next spring and summer. Some startling results are anticipated in the way of rich ore bodies and large yields. There are already several shafts sunk upon this valuable vein, all of which show a strong ledge. One of the shafts has reached the depth of 145 feet, carrying a strong, 6 1/2 foot vein, from bottom to top, all pay ore. Another shaft has reached the depth of 200 feet, disclosing rich bodies of ore that reach when worked by mill process, from $28 to $30 per ton. The value of this splendid find will be more fully appreciated when it is known by the reader that every pound of the vein is pay ore in gold.

This mine is most favorably situated for working and is in the immediate vicinity of those rich historic mines of an early day known as the Grand Prize, Grand Central and other neighboring ledges, from which a million and a half or more of money has been extracted. The formation of this whole metallic field above described is soft and kind, giving place for mineral ores to live. Upon sinking a shaft at any point within this interesting region to the depth of 60 or 80 feet, the prospector is sure to develop, by running east or west drifts, either a ledge, deposit or a rich stringer of ore.

The lucky owners of this splendid piece of mining property will be able in the future to keep away the mythical wolf from their doors. They are all old-time, go-ahead citizens of Tuscarora and they deserve their good fortune.

The locators and owners are A. Pain-eau, Kansas Steele, Al Gaibbert, Geo. Coslett and Mike Speth.

These rich prospects in the store-house of nature will once again bring Tuscarora to the front as a prosperous camp, notwithstanding the temporary desolation brought about by Cleveland Sherman & Co., by their persistent determination of maintaining a gold standard.

LONG MOUNTAIN

Is situated about half way between Elko and Tuscarora, a little south of the main stage road. This district was first discovered and worked as early as June, 1893. The mineral formation is limestone and slate, with an occasional dike of porphyry. The southwest end of the mountain has been noted for its rich copper mines, also for its galena and chloride silver ores. Besides an immense body of magnetic iron ore, carrying from $10 to $12 per ton in gold there is also a number of gold deposits of low grade ore. Considerable development work has been performed during the last two years. One of the most promising prospects is situated at the north end and west side of the mountain, not far from the Tuscarora road. The mines are of easy approach by heavy teams, being near the base of the mountain.

The formation is slate and limestone. The ledges are well defined, carrying both gold and silver in paying quantities and are favorably situated for deep work and drainage, when needed.

In close proximity to these mines a large stream of clear, cold water is found. The water of this living spring is discharged at the north base of the mountain and has sufficient volume to supply a mill or furnace, not being less than 46 to 50 inches.

This desirable mining property will be extensively developed by Messrs. Reed & Son, and highly satisfactory results are confidently anticipated by the lucky owners.

I have most encouraging reports from other gold and silver fields in Elko county, which I shall at a future time be pleased to present to the readers of the JOURNAL.

Elko county possesses rich mines of gold, silver, copper, and in fact all the metals known to the commerce of the world, in greater or less quantities.

White teeth, sweet breath, a fragrant mouth,
There are no charms surpassing these;
Abroad, at home, east, west, north, south,
These three prime charms are sure to please
All those who SOZODONT apply
Will have these charms—take heed and try.

THEY LIKED NOISE.

Literary Lights Who Found a Stimulus to Work in Turmoil.

All that concerns the men and women who give distinction to their day is of interest to those who admire, criticize and perhaps envy their achievements. A special and legitimate curiosity is felt in reference to the conditions under which success is won. Glimpses are occasionally given into the methods of eminent toilers, and a wonderful variety is revealed. It is at least plain that no guidebook to great performances—the anxious author can have his choice of several—will determine the point where exactly the best results are to be obtained. One man's help is another's hindrance. Many famous writers, for instance, have only been able to perfect their thoughts in silence and seclusion. But there have also been those who could work in the midst of babel and defy distraction. Jane Austen, whose unpretentious canvases are full of some of the most lifelike portraits in fiction, was never in the habit of seeking solitude to compose. She wrote sitting in the family circle and under perpetual risk of interruption. It was the same with a successful lady novelist happily still living.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote her best known story on a plain pine table by the aid of an evening lamp in a tiny wooden house in Maine. About her were gathered children of various ages, conning their lessons or at play and never guessing what a treasure mine of excitement was coming into existence for other young people in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." A large part of the "Roman History" of Dr. Arnold was composed under similar circumstances. Dean Stanley has sketched the Rugby student, where Arnold sat at his work, "with no attempt at seclusion, conversation going on around him—his children playing in the room—his frequent guests, whether friends or former pupils, coming in or out at will." Thomas Lovell Beddoes, a poet of luxuriant fancy and true genius, though much neglected, also found stimulus to the creative faculty of his muse in working in playful and even noisy company. Such cases recall the story of the learned man of Padua, who assured Montaigne that he actually needed to be disturbed by uproar before he could proceed to study.—Chambers' Journal.

Cavalry Pistol Practice, 1972.

Here follow the commands for the pistol:

1. Uncock your pistols. 2. Draw forth your pistols. This must be performed with the right hand. The left pistol first and then to mount the muzzle. 3. Order your pistol. Rest your pistol a little in your bridle hand, and then immediately take your pistol near the middle part of it, and place the butt end upon your thigh. 4. Slink or rest your pistol in your bridle hand. 5. Bend your cock (or draw up your cock to half cock). 6. Secure or guard your cock. 7. Open your pan. 8. Prime your pan. 9. Shut your pan or order your hammer or steel. 10. Cast about your pistols, which is to be done against your left thigh, with your muzzle upward in your bridle hand. 11. Gage your fasks. 12. Load your pistols with powder. For your more speedy loading of your pistols, there is lately invented a small powder flask, with a suitable charge, but it is not to be denied that your cartridges are very serviceable.

There are 11 more motions, and finally in 24—give fire. In the firing of your pistols you are not to fire directly forward, to your enemies' horses' heads, but toward the right hand, with the lock of the pistol upward.—Notes and Queries.

WINTER IS UNKIND

TO FAIR FACES.

Most women have a natural dread of winter—the cold winds and dampness roughens and chaps their skin. Many have gained knowledge by experience and now apply a Balm.

POZZONI'S

ASSESSMENT NOTICE.

SOUTH SIDE IRRIGATING CANAL COMPANY.
Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the above named company, held on the 24th day of January, 1895, an assessment (No. 27) of one ($1) dollar per share was levied upon each and every share of the capital stock of the company, payable immediately to the United States gold coin to John B. Williams, Secretary, at his office in the Court House, Reno, Nevada. Any stock upon which this assessment shall remain unpaid on the 30th day of February, 1895, shall be deemed delinquent, and will be advertised for sale at public auction, and unless previously paid will be sold by the Secretary of said company at his office on Tuesday, the 24th day of March, 1895, at 2 o'clock P. M. of that day, to pay such delinquent assessment, together with the costs and expenses of sale. By order of the Board of Trustees, JOHN B. WILLIAMS, Secretary. Reno, Nevada, January 12, 1895.
